Gaustatoppen

At 1883 meters above sea level, Gaustatoppen is Telemarks highest mountain. On clear days, you're able to see a 6th of Norway's land area from the summit.

Using the Gaustabanen cable cars, you're getting a spectacular trip all the way to the very summit. In the alps, it's popular to fly with a helicopter to the summit. At Gausta, we do things differently. Since 1959, trains have gone all the way to the top, inside the mountain. Just 15 minutes later, you're over 1800 meters above sea level.

Gaustatoppen Tourist cabin is built in stone from the top in 1893 and since then, it has lured all kinds of mountain loving people. Here, you can enjoy freshly made waffles and a cup of coffee, while enjoying the fantastical views over large parts of Southern Norway.

An aerial photograph of a mountain valley. In the background, a large, rounded mountain peak rises against a clear sky. The valley floor is a mix of green forest and brownish-yellow open areas. A winding road or path is visible in the foreground, curving around a small pond. The overall scene is bright and scenic.
